

CONSULTING THE DICE:

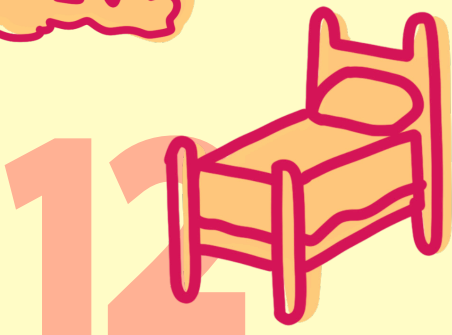

1. Use two six-sided dice.
- Hold the dice in your bare hand at least 6" above the table. It is okay to rub or blow on the dice for luck.
3. Roll (don't drop) the dice.
4. Both dice must end up flat on the table. If they are cocked (leaning on something) or stacked (on top of each other), you must roll again.
5. Add up the pips (dots) on the dice.
6. Consult the guide for your fortune.

PEACEFUL RETIREMENT

Within the next year, you will commit the perfect crime. I cannot say what crime you have committed, but you will execute it with grace and anonymity. You will move away to another country, get full face plastic surgery, gain 50 pounds, leave your old family and start a new one, change your name, and quit your job. Your crime will make national headlines, but no one will ever suspect you. You sit at the front of the porch with a glass of iced tea, sipping away slowly.

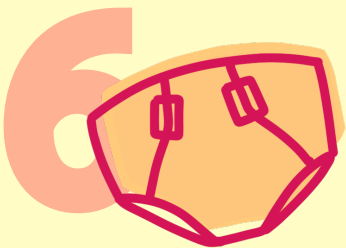

NEW PET

You will become friends with this really sweet group of people, and they will let you into their circle of friends. However, things will take a turn very quickly. They will ask you to wear a costume of a wolf, prance around, and howl. You do it to appease them, succumbing to peer pressure despite your major discomfort. They will ask you to only speak through barks and growls, then tie you onto a leash. You will be their pet. But, you will enjoy the lifestyle since they give you free meals and a place to stay.

THE FOURTH DIMENSION

NIGHTMARE ZACHARY

For the next three years, your dreams will only consist of the 12th president, Zachary Taylor, and a glass of cold, iced water and cherries. In that recurring dream, you will perish the same way Taylor did, stomach pains caused by cholera morbus, and you will both die at the same date and time, but at different places. The only thing is, is your death will not be recorded in history, because it was overshadowed by Zachary Taylor's death. By the time both of you die, almost 80% of your bodily fluids would have already been excreted by your body. An estimated 100,000 came to his funeral, while your body was left to be devoured by the ravens and decomposed by the worms. Only right after someone discovers your body, you wake up, not even being able to relinquish the feeling of knowing someone was aware of your death.

ADDICTION

You will develop an addiction to drop kicking babies. No one knows how it began, but within a span of a year, you manage to drop kick thirteen babies. A world record. Luckily, none of them actually suffered long term injuries.

PISSBABY

After you reach age 40, you will start to urinate nonstop. It only accumulates to around one cup an hour, but it leaks out at a consistent amount all the time. You will be forced to wear diapers for the rest of your life so that society won't make fun of you for wetting the bed all the time.

HUMPTY DUMPTY

You will conceive in 2034, despite whatever gender you are and whether or not you have had sexual intercourse. However, you will give birth to an egg. But be careful, if you crack the egg too early, your own child will turn against you and try to poison you at any given chance. If you are patient and let the child develop fully, they will become a member of the British royal family. A little bit of attitude from ages 14 to 17, but otherwise, a very polite and adventurous child that likes to take risks.

GASSED UP

One day, during class, you will accidentally fart during class. It's a natural thing our body does, it's normal, is anyone really going to remember? The answer is yes, yes they will. Years later, you run into an old classmate. You two rarely talked, only the occasional glance on the zoom call. She asks you, "hey, aren't you that person that farted during class?" There is fear in your eyes. So, what should you do? Run. Run as fast and as far away as you can, and never go back to that grocery store ever again.

HUNGRY COCKROACH

A pregnant cockroach will crawl into your ear while you are sleeping. You will not even notice it for the longest time, until one of its children crawls out while you are eating a chipotle burrito. You let the cockroach enjoy a little lunch session with you, until you run all the way to the doctor's office and have them drown and flush out all the cockroaches in your ear. You keep their corpses preserved in a little jar next to your bed.

BROTHER PRINCE

You will get an email in the near future that says a Nigerian prince is your long lost brother. He says that at birth, because of a fatal illness that you contracted due to the climate in Nigeria, you had to be adopted by a family in a different country. Recently, his father, the king, was forced to put down his crown, making him the official ruler of his kingdom. He realized once in power that his country was in debt, and he asked for a small sum of $3,500 to help rebuild his land. You must pay that debt to him, or else you will lose all of your money to gambling in the future. If you do pay him, you will inherit the land, and both of you will reign as the most powerful sibling monarchy in history.

BEWARE OF THE BUSH

One day, you will come across a sentient bush. You believe that you are the second coming of Moses, however the bush starts to walk towards you with a knife. You run away, but the bush will continue lurking in the shadows until it is the right moment to strike. You will never be safe, at this point your life will continue to be like a fiction, literally man vs. nature.

LOVE LIFE

Your significant other will ask you if you are having an affair because they heard noises coming from your bedroom. In reality, you were actually just jumping on the bed, like a child. Too embarrassed to say the truth, you will simply agree, and they break up with you.